

WE KNOW SUCCESS.®

We Don't Just Offer Support.

We offer the kind of support you need to double or triple your business.

When you partner your talents with our resources, you can build the business you've always known is possible. With AIG Financial Advisors, you quickly learn to understand build upon your unique formula for achieving tangible results.

YOURS is the business we serve.

When you affiliate with AIG Financial Advisors, you begin to experience an attention for your business requirements that is deeply rooted in our culture and our mission to provide personalized service. And, you can expect the relationship to grow because we consistently listen and respond, through a variety of forums:

The Management Advisory Council is a representative group of affiliated advisors from around the nation who serve for a defined term to provide a voice for advisors and their clients on relevant issues.

The National Education Conference, or NEC, is an annual event that provides training on various topics, the setting for exchange of ideas among professionals, opportunities to explore unique places, and the occasion to recognize achievement.

The Education Committee is comprised of affiliated advisors and members of the home office staff who work together to prepare curriculums and educational programs that help you develop and grow your business.

Visits and Tele-conferences with Regional Vice Presidents provide interactive discussion and invaluable ideas on specific topics from an individual who is dedicated to the growth and efficiency of your business.

Making the move.

Select an alternate way to affiliate

Independent affiliation is our hall-

Add up all the ways we can deliver more value to your business than any other independent broker-dealer.

mark, but if you prefer a less independent affiliation, we have an alternative: Experience the entrepreneurial environment of AIG Financial Advisors as a corporate employee. With AIGFA Advisor Select<sup>SM</sup>, you can do business your way, but with more freedom, higher payouts, and the security of employee benefits. We'll even give you an office and provide supplies for your communication with clients and potential clients. We will support your personal and professional growth. If you decide to transition to independence, we'll help you in that process, too.

Transition with precision

A dedicated team of professionals will plan your transition based on your unique requirements and they will monitor the transfer of accounts with you. You'll work directly with our highly qualified, licensed transition specialists who will be with you every step of the way and as long as necessary to ensure a thorough transition process that leaves no stone unturned.

Once your registration is activated, your transition liaison will continue to guide you through a clear process for expediting your transition, while familiarizing you with tools and programs you can use to multiply your business.

Get started on growing your business

We provide the dedication and commitment you need from your broker-dealer. While you are providing meaningful solutions, superior support, and creative solutions for your clients, you can count on the same from the trusted professionals of AIG Financial Advisors.
